IT'S ALL ABOUT WILL AND SACRIFICE

For those who well understood what I've outlined before you ever opened the book, and who have demonstrated that with your life's actions; just know that this fellow citizen truly respects and appreciates your efforts.

I hope I've added a useful thought or two to your mental tool kits.

Writing this caused me to examine our nation from a lot of different angles. It reminded me that despite all the national changes in the wrong direction during my lifetime, I am very fortunate and thankful to have lived in this country, in this period of time.

It also reminded me and reinforced how truly unique our nation was when founded, and still is in the world.

And, that it can remain so for centuries in the world; but if and only if enough of us find "the Right stuff" within us as our fathers and forefathers did in our most critical past periods.

Per my understanding, the vast majority of the countries and population of the world throughout all history have been controlled by Left leaders as defined by the Hierarchy of the Left.

That was certainly the state of the world at the time our country was founded.

But our forefathers set a truly new course. Our unique Republic broke free and created the right environment to pursue individual freedom and capitalism.

For a historically short 233 years now we have stood alone in the world as a role model... a benchmark.

Not in terms of total perfection in all of our actions on our journey; but rather, in terms of unique direction and expectations set by founding principles, values, structure, and processes in pursuit of the Hierarchy of the Right.

And in the unprecedented measurable progress in the quality of life that has been created for the vast majority of our citizens; and for millions of others around the world through our actions.

That obvious success in such a historically short time well exposed the flawed logic, approaches, and sorry results that Left "leadership" always brings.

We became an open example as to what Right leadership can accomplish in pursuit of the best interests of God, Country, family, community, and our individual freedom to pursue excellence.

So, since the very beginning of that journey, we have been under constant attack by Left leaders and followers around the world and from within.

But we must never allow their majority worldwide position to deter us from successfully defending what we know to be truly right direction and results. Our Founding Fathers did not let that stop them.

During our journey to date, a few other allies with true Right-seeking leaders emerged around the world, and adopted many key elements of the course we set.

We stood side by side with them in pursuit of what was right during some very challenging times. In doing so we enabled a lot of progress for their citizens.

But despite those past correct actions, we and they lost our way and have regressed in critical arenas this past five decades. That worldwide Left led majority has made a lot of inroads at conquering us and our allies from within.

Left leaders in all arenas of life obviously don't want to lose their past power over humanity. Nor do their worldwide unprincipled media puppets.

So, those two well intertwined groups used all manner of lawful and unlawful approaches to prevent their dependent citizen base from freely learning and sharing facts about the true essence of those who control and manipulate their lives.

So we now find our nation at a critical watershed in our history, as are any remaining groups of Right-seeking citizens in the few other nations who have ever successfully pursued those same eternal God given rights; and who look to us to lead by example.

The crucial, essential question now becomes: Within the six billion citizens in the world, which specific groups of people best understand what actions must be taken here in America; and in fact have the proper background, will, and skill to successfully complete those actions?

It seems to me that the vast majority of that core group is best defined as all those born before the late 1960s; and who live right here, and in England, and in Australia.

The oldest still living among that group carried the burdens and made the sacrifices during and following WWII. And the majority of that remaining, relatively small worldwide group still lives right here.

They fought battles on multiple fronts. They and their families bore the agony of the deaths and injuries in battle. They lived through shortages of all kinds here at home. They also directly and indirectly bore a lot of the cost to help rebuild the countries of our allies... and also those of our WWII enemies.

This group then stepped up and directly and indirectly bore the burdens of the Korean War, even though they had barely started to rebuild a new life and recover here at home.

The vast majority of that remaining exceptional group certainly understands and has well demonstrated true Right leadership and pursuit of the Hierarchy of the Right.

Those people exemplify Highest Values, responsibility, accountability, courage, and the will to survive and bring order out of chaos. They exemplify willingness to take a principled stand, and fight for what is right when the facts are made clear to them.

Most of us who are the first generation “WWII war babies”, here and in England and Australia, were well taught about the basics of the Hierarchy of the Right by our parents. We grew up in the Right-seeking world they had fought for and created for us.

They had built and grown our core industrial base during the war.

Those who returned built the homes, communities, schools, hospitals and roads we all enjoyed as we grew up. They generally taught us to work hard, and respect others and their property.

Life was much simpler for most of us. None of the truly toxic societal values that are the predominant output of today’s media and Left leaders occupied even a tiny fraction of time in most of our lives as we were raised and educated.

Most of us Americans here in that period up through the early 1960s truly lived in a world of demonstrated family values and correct, well proven, basic principles in our homes; even if not throughout our communities.

While too many racial discrimination issues and too much hatred between multiple nationalities still had not been satisfactorily addressed here in America; those issues truly paled in contrast with those that existed around the world at that same period of time.

Just consider the literal genocide of tens of millions of people in Germany, Poland, and Russia. Or, study the oppression of the caste system in India.

Or, learn about the ever present tribal warfare purges in Africa. Or study the past and ongoing suffering in multiple “banana republics” in Latin America and South America. Or, consider the centuries old impact of the ever present multinational quest for Islamic dominance.

Following that brief period from WWII into the early 1960s, it seems to me that I and my "WWII war baby" generation then proceeded to steadily lose key battles to Left leaders throughout the past five decades.

Their efforts did not come as an all out frontal attack or we and our parents would have stopped them. The Left leaders and followers knew that and used the approaches I've already outlined to defeat us... one action and one day at time.

As the power of the media in our lives grew, we lost those battles because the Left led actions were truly insidious. We forgot the lessons of our parents and let major regression start in that period.

We let it spread rapidly, as Left leaders used the new media of television, and bred a new Hollywood generation that contained very few of their prior WWII Right seekers.

We allowed their societal weed seeds to be broadly sown, while we sat back and started to enjoy an easier life and all the new material toys that our parents had given us through their sacrifice.

And in doing that, we started giving less time and attention to the education of our own children; and the standards we set for them, particularly in our larger Left led cities.

For too many children, the initial training jars started to become far less confining and their frog boiling pots started to get filled with ever more governmental drips and droppings. And the weeds we parents failed to control began to propagate in all societal structures, systems, and processes that affected them in their formative years.

...And our children watched and learned as we allowed that.

When we drew correct lines with right intent to end racial discrimination, we simultaneously allowed governmental and societal weeds to be sown by black and white Left "leaders" that have allowed them to continually manipulate and dominate the African American group; and to prevent most of them from ever truly pursuing the Hierarchy of the Right.

In that period we also allowed the soldiers who fought and died in Vietnam to be trashed by a steadily strengthening Left media; and by unholy drip and dropping generating vermin like Jane Fonda, John Kerry, et al.

In just twenty years time we went from a nation united by war with almost total respect for our military during and after the war... to a nation that spat on our soldiers as they returned from Vietnam, and treated them like filthy outcasts as they tried to build a normal life.

Our WWII parents and all of us war babies let that happen without drawing correct hard lines in defense and support of those soldiers.

Massive heat should have scalded and deep fried the top Left leaders who took us into that war without the will and plan to win it; and also the media that trashed the soldiers who were ordered into battle by that “leadership”.

But instead the media and those leaders allowed all heat to be redirected and applied to our soldiers.

...And our children watched and learned as we allowed that.

In that same period, we allowed the Johnson administration to broadly concoct and create the “Great Society” toxic boiling pot... filled to the brim with drips and droppings, and surrounded by weeds in all directions.

That Left led concoction became a source of ongoing nationwide taking, wasting, and redistribution... and failed to deliver any result with long term benefit.

And we didn't notice or respond as they loaded the courts with those who would continue that attack from their unelected positions. We actually allowed one court decision... Roe vs. Wade... to enable the slaughter of 50,000,000 defenseless humans to be. That result to date is one of the most infamous products of our inaction.

We Right-seekers drew no hard battle lines and took no “last stands” for victory in that period. After all, we were working at our jobs and careers as responsible, hard working, bill paying taxpayers as we had been taught.

How much more sacrifice and invested time and effort could anyone reasonably expect of us beyond that?

...And our children watched and learned as we allowed that.

We Right “seekers” took proper action to force a Left leader Republican named Nixon out of office for a break-in to get campaign information. And then have let Left leaders for decades since then right up to today get away with multitudes of unreported, uninvestigated, and unprosecuted actions of far worse magnitude.

Take an evening some time to do some careful research and compare the actions and consequences of Watergate with Left led actions at each major election since that time.

Or, with the Clinton team ongoing legacy of lawlessness starting in the 1980s in Arkansas.

Or, with the brazen, open, media ignored lawless acts that have characterized the 110th and current 111th Congress and the 2008 election.

Or, with the past and current known, lawless actions of our new President and many on his cabinet that are yet to even be properly initially investigated, let alone prosecuted.

This time, neither we nor our children have yet drawn any hard lines that we're committed to defend at all costs. We are willingly letting hypocritical, unlawful Left leaders, an out of control Left media mob, and Left leaning courts run rampant without consequence.

We are allowing them to openly make obvious step changes to trash our Founding Fathers' ideals, our past capitalistic economic success, and our individual freedoms per our Constitution.

We are allowing them to set up our grandchildren and their grandchildren with clear, certain, horrific consequences.

...And our grandchildren are watching us and our children allow that.

Hopefully it is already painfully obvious to many readers that we are very far down the path to being converted as a total country into Sociotonia™!

Based on the events so far early in 2009, many Right-seekers out there of all ages are finally awakening and ready to draw hard lines on economic/taxation matters

But it seems to me that far too many are still quite willing not to draw any hard lines on the other matters I've touched on in this book. The younger majority have been well taught not to be seen as "divisive" or "partisan" as defined by Left leaders and their media. They apparently don't have the background knowledge to see the certain consequences of their indifference or complicity.

So it seems to me that it is time for all Right-seekers in this country who were WWII babies, or born before the mid 1960s, to truly answer the call and pay whatever price it takes to draw hard lines once again on all fronts.

It's time for us to plan, prepare for, and win all needed key battles... and truly turn this country around using any and all wise counsel we can get from the oldest Right seekers still alive among us.

As I see it, we should not ask or expect any who already stepped up in WWII or Korea to carry most of that burden. Nor should most of it fall on the backs of those who actually fought in Vietnam and took the nationwide abuse.

I believe the bulk of the effort must objectively come from those of us who have not yet expended significant effort for our country, or been at risk in any higher cause in our lives to date.

This effort will require a majority of us be willing to make the sacrifices of time and effort our parents made in WWII. We must be willing to shift energy we had planned to invest in retirement travel pursuits, hobbies, or just time around our home.

Shouldn't we take the lead to align ourselves and redirect our efforts to truly clean up our Governmental messes at all levels, starting county by county right up through Washington?

Shouldn't all of us step forward who know how to read a balance sheet, or manage a zero based budget, or lay out a workable cost reduction plan, or how to follow the money and records trails to find corruption?

Shouldn't we force lawful, legal action to replace the current show and tell governmental farces; so that we truly identify those Sociotonians™ of all Parties who truly trashed our life savings, IRAs, pension plans, and home values?

Shouldn't we force the past lawless acts of any current federal government leaders to be brought into the light of day, starting in the Obama White House; and insist on correctly applied rule of law?

Shouldn't that include correct legal consequences including impeachment, and prison if warranted?

Shouldn't we expect and in fact demand that the Martha Stewart standard be applied?

Isn't it an inescapable reality that all of the right actions that can lead to success will require enough of us step forward with a 1776, 1861-65, and World War II mentality and dedication; and be willing to devote and redirect our time, energy, and talents to take those actions as an aligned team of Right Seekers working under the guidance of an alliance of true Right Leaders who are operating above self driven objectives?

Doesn't it all come down to a matter of our will and sacrifice at this moment in our history?

This elder author believes that is so and stands ready to find those true Right leaders and to invest significant time and energy beyond the several years of my life I've already invested in this project.

It seems to me that this is exactly the right time in my life to use many of my remaining days to pursue truly right, best purpose for this country, and therefore for my family. And I hope that many of you see it the same way.

This project has given me a lot of time away from my past hectic work life and allowed me to become very aware that our days are truly numbered and precious.

In today's world that "number" for all but a very few is certainly less than 100 years... 36,500 days. For most, it is more likely about 70 years... 25,000 days or so. And too many will pass from this earth far before that for myriad reasons.

So each day we are given is truly a blessing. We can consciously or unconsciously use it for the betterment or to the detriment of ourselves and those around us.

As I finish this update I have already outlived too many friends and missed too many past opportunities to serve a higher purpose, so whatever comes from the path I've outlined is a good fit for me.

And so I ask you ladies and gentlemen,

If we, who are in the age group and who have the background that I defined, don't step forward and act with strong will and true commitment on behalf of our country...

If we don't give our very best effort to maintain America's role as the world-wide beacon of freedom, and to return to correct direction and action per the Hierarchy of the Right in all critical arenas...

If we don't prevent our nation from becoming irrecoverably transformed back into just another of history's Left led, stifling, oppressive, and regressive regimes...

...Please tell me exactly what other group on the face of the earth today has the needed capability, and will actually act to do so?

I'll conclude this first major step on my new journey in life as I began it; with God given certainty that...

Our future success in pursuit of excellence depends on

Finding, following, enabling, and becoming

Right leaders in pursuit of excellence!

And since each of us is a leader for someone,

You and I can always make a positive difference!

Every day!

One day at a time!

May God truly bless us all on our journey!
In the United States of America
And around the world!
